

Staff Achievements

Achieving a Just & Secure Society

Australia Day Awards

Paul Breen, Australian Protective Service—for outstanding achievements in the provision of protective security services to the Australian Government and the Diplomatic and Consular Corps.

Ross Butler, Corporate Services—for his longstanding and exceptional contribution to human resource management in the Attorney-General's Department particularly in the employment conditions field.

Mike Gaffney, Protective Security Coordination Centre—for a significant contribution to the development of the revised Commonwealth Protective Security Manual.

Adrian Halloran, Corporate Services—for excellence in service.

Ron Hickman, Australian Protective Service—for outstanding commitment and dedication to the implementation of workplace change within the Australian Protective Service station at Russell Offices, Canberra.

Geoffrey McDougall, Information and Security Law Division—for his contribution in the resolution of legal issues that arose in relation to the security of the Olympic Games and in the development of legislation relating to call-out of the Australian Defence Force.

Claire Parkhill, Office of Legislative Drafting—for her consistently high drafting standards, especially on the Corporations Law Rules 2000.

Mike Rothery, Protective Security Coordination Centre—for the professional management of the Australian Secure Network (ASNET) project.

Kathryn Shugg, Native Title Division—for an outstanding contribution to the work of the Native Title Division, in particular in the implementation of the State regimes under the Native Title Act 1993.

Gerard Woodward, Protective Security Coordination Centre—for outstanding achievement in representing the Commonwealth in the field of protective security while attached to the Dignitary and Protection Unit during the planning for and holding of the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games.

Cathy Rossiter, David Barr and Marlene Parker, Criminal Justice Division—for their significant contribution to handguns control and firearms safety training standards in the interests of community safety.

Sandra Power, James Popple, Catherine Jones, Naomi Smith, Andrew Henderson and Greg Nicholas, Civil Justice Division—for their significant contribution in advising the Attorney-General on administrative review system reform.

Annette Willing and Michael Manning, Criminal Justice Division—for their work in fostering Australia's interests in combating transnational organised crime.

Simon Cordina, Carolyn Hough, Michael Argy, Fiona Ey and Kirsty Haipola, Information and Security Law Division—for their work in the development of the Copyright Amendment (Digital Agenda) Act 2000 and support to the Attorney-General during its passage through Parliament.

Gabrielle Mackey, Richard Glenn, Allison Wood, Carolyn Adams, Rachel White and Franca Musolino, Information and Security Law Division—for their work in the development of the Privacy Amendment (Private Sector) Bill and support to the Attorney-General during its passage through Parliament.

Other Awards

Robyn Frost, Office of International Law—awarded the Attorney-General's Department Academic Achievement Award for 2000.

Lindsay Hansch, Protective Security Coordination Centre—awarded the Public Service Medal for a significant contribution to security planning for the Sydney 2000 Olympics and Paralympic Games.

Kate Plowman, Criminal Justice Division—awarded the Attorney-General's Department Academic Achievement Award for 2000.

Other Achievements

Bill Campbell, Office of International Law—elected to chair the Drafting Committee at the Diplomatic Conference to adopt a Bunker Fuels Pollution Convention.

Australian Protective Service Officers at Sydney Airport—the Australian Protective Service was awarded the Australian Security Industry Association Limited (ASIAL) Award for outstanding Excellence in Security Aviation.

Extradition Unit, International Branch, Criminal Justice Division—received tokens of appreciation from the United States Ambassador to Australia on behalf of the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in recognition of assistance by Australian agencies in securing the extradition from Australia to the USA of persons wanted by the FBI for serious crimes.

Australian Protective Service Awards

The National Medal is designed to recognise 15 years of diligent service by members of a uniformed force. It is awarded by the Governor-General on the recommendation of the chief officer of the relevant service. The Director's Awards are designed to recognise Australian Protective Service officers whose performance and dedication is outstanding. Recipients for 2000–01 are set out below.

National Medals

Pauline Carvalho, Desmond Main, John Clarke, Danie Greske, John Brain, Clyde Currie, Paul Gertig, Surmakh Bains, Robert McDougall, Brendan McBean, John Collie, Michael Varker, Alan Quartermain, Christopher Chatterton, Brett Flavell, Peter Grkinic, Gregory Lee, Paul McInnes, Norma Douglass, Max Hubner, Martin Landsdown, Bradley Lovell, Gavin Hall, Neil Croker, Mervyn Price, James Cattnach, James Walton, Richard Roberts, Christopher Bramble, Robert Brown, Pamela McGilvary, Sava Matic, Brett Butler, Dennis Holmes, Peter Mullins, Biagio Rimi, Michael De Bono and Chris Donald.

Director's Awards

Peter Klavins and Clyde Batty.