Dear Sir/Madame,

We do not want any more “anti-discrimination” laws. They serve only to favour the homosexual lobby and pressure groups who bully normal people with the bludgeon of political correctness. One of the latest cases in Britain serves to show this.

TOMORROW, in Britain (Wed), another brave lady will face yet ANOTHER TRIAL because of her Christian faith and her unwillingness to accept that a same-sex attraction is 'normal'.

She is a Christian counsellor and psychotherapist - or was!!

Lesley Pilkington will once again appear before her Professional Body, the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy (BACP) because she is appealing against disciplinary action taken against her because she dared to HELP someone who ASKED for it.

IN BRIEF: Lesley was approached by an undercover homosexual rights journalist at a largely Christian conference in 2009. The journalist convinced her that he had unwanted same-sex attractions and needed her counselling assistance. He later attended several sessions with Lesley at her home clinic where he secretly recorded her. He subsequently attacked her in the press and complained to her professional body and won!!!

Injustice always accompanies the normalising of immorality.

I hope you are unbiased enough at least to recognize the reality of what's happening. Aussies pride ourselves on the fair go, but we are being led by the nose into a legislated strait-jacket of intimidation. What happened to the sacred UN freedoms of speech and religion?

Yours sincerely,

Steve Gadsby
