

Dear Sir/Madam

We run a family farmstay in Northern NSW on a Christian basis. We cater for mainstream family Australia and we can only preserve that atmosphere if we can exclude fringe ideologies and fringe lifestyles.

The anti discrimination laws seem to aim at making all places the same.

Also, they foster a culture of lying, only to be legally correct.

Alex Reynolds