Information for completing: Form D: Application for transfer to Australia — prisoner not on parole and not serving suspended sentence

When to use this form

Use this form if you are applying for transfer to Australia from another country and you are not on parole or serving a suspended part of a sentence.

Providing information

- A number of factors are considered when a transfer application is being assessed. These include a prisoner's eligibility for transfer, citizenship and residency status, sentence enforcement, rehabilitation and reintegration prospects, community ties and humanitarian concerns.
- The information you provide on this form will assist assessment of your application against the factors listed above and those outlined in the Australian Government's International Transfer of Prisoners Statement of Policy, which can be accessed from the Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department (AGD) website www.ag.gov.au
- Please ensure you provide as much detail as possible when completing the form. Your application may be delayed if you do not provide sufficient information. You may include with your application, on separate pages, any additional information that you consider may assist your application.
- The personal information you provide on this form may be disclosed to other parties for the purpose of processing your application. For further information, see Form G: Collection, Use and Disclosure of Personal Information form, available on the AGD website. Form G must be completed and returned with your application form.
- If applicable, you may be asked to provide other documents at a later date, such as birth or marriage certificate or other official issued name change certificate to support your application. If your transfer is successful, a valid travel document is required before physical transfer can take place.
- If you require further information contact the International Transfer of Prisoners Unit, in the Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department, on (02) 6141 6666, at itp@ag.gov.au or refer to the AGD website.
