

Unconscionable. This original data retention legislation, very unpopular, was delivered on a promise that it would only be accessed by a select few agencies. It's been less than a year since then and already we have scope creep. Stop spying on us! How long until you're selling the same metadata to advertisers?