

To whom it may concern

It has been brought to my attention the federal government is bringing in yet another law quietly. Do state and federal government's listen to the people at all? I've been noticing they don't often! But to do with the meta data i Also remember then the Australian people did not want or trust that law being passed but it was passed anyway?? Why you might ask. At the time was a lot of fear around terrorists etc so some people bought it. Maybe even some lobbying from the u.s?. Now you want it for civil cases! amazing!. I think we should just have CCTV or some kind of device that tracks us every where like a mobile phone passed in legislation. Because the upsetting thing is it seems to be going there.
