

Hi,

I do not believe there should be circumstances where exclusions can apply as the purpose of the purpose of the data retention laws is to combat terrorism and serious criminal activity. By allowing data to be accessed as part of civil lawsuits goes against the purpose of the data retention laws and by the same token, such an exclusion will threaten our civil liberty: personal privacy.

Regards,

Tony