

Dear Attorney General,

I would like to express my concerns regarding new Metadata Laws you are considering introducing which will allow more organisations to access our private information without restriction.

I do not have a problem with some organisations accessing data in order to prevent terrorism but I have a MAJOR problem with my private information being given to various Companies and Departments to use without my permission.

I object to this and would like my concerns to be recognised as a contributing member to the Australian economy.

Regards,

Carmel Cunningham
