

Our metadata was supposed to be made available to the Australian government for the purposes of preventing terrorism. It should not be accessed for any other purpose, including finding information with which to sue Australian citizens.

Catherine Dart