

Our society is built on many freedoms. The right to anonymity and privacy are among the fundamental ones. The moment you take them away then that's the moment you're effectively begin destroying our freedoms and our society.

I consider access to my (or anyone else's) telecommunication data as a gross violation of privacy and anonymity.

Don't allow this to happen!

Edward Tsyrlin