

Sir/Madam,

It is disgusting that the privacy I fight to protect will be whisked away by the government in this cowardly attack on our privacy while the media was sleeping over the break.

The fact that this was announced on Christmas eve proves that this legislation is poorly designed or is something ordinary Australians should be concerned about.

Additionally this legislation will allow scope creep to other non-government agencies. What the HELL is the Do Not Call Register for if you give all my private information away?

I thought we had a right to privacy - it seems that the government is not concerned about my privacy. Well I'm not interested in voting for them at the next election.

This disgraceful piece of legislation must be aborted immediately to provide Australians with their right to privacy.

I have a right to privacy. My kids have a right to privacy!

Sincerely

Nicholas Boyle
