

I wish to reject this new attempt at further eroding our privacy.
There has not been an attempt to widely explain this to the public at large and is in my view a breach of trust.

When the original Meta data law was introduced all sorts of 'fake' promises were made about metadata and our safety.

Obviously we had a right to worry given the current circumstances. Governments can never be trusted.

This new step is straight out of George Orwell's 1984.

Interesting that another is pushing this agenda.

Best Regards

Ron Sebrechts